AHS Orchestra Receives High Rating at National Event

Musicians receive two plus rating—Over 4,000 scholastic music students participate in Albany event—Entrants from several states—Are grateful for public support.

Addison people have a right to be proud of the Addison High School orchestra based on the excellence of the performance given at the National Music Finals in Albany last Saturday. Bands, orchestras, choirs and soloists from the New England States and Middle Atlantic States competed in this contest, one of six regional contests held throughout the United States. The group from Addison received a two plus rating on performance, only being excelled by Sherrill, New York, an orchestra having more instruments. Sherrill is the home of the Oneida Community Plate near Syracuse.

Director Glenn L. Sprague of the Addison group stated that there was no nervousness in the group of student musicians, many of them making a long trip for the first time away from home. Owing to there being over 4,000 students in Albany for the finals, the Addison musicians stayed at the Van Curer Hotel in Shenectady, 20 miles from Albany.

Mr. Sprague and the musicians are deeply grateful for the support given them by Andrew W. Knebel, chairman of the Citizens' Fund Raising Committee, to those who contributed cars for the trip, to the people of the community who made individual donations of sums from 25c to $5, to the organizations which sent contributions and to the Advertiser for its cooperation in making the project possible. Mr. Knebel also wishes to thank all who helped.

The group of citizens which met prior to the going away suggested that any funds not available should be taken from the tax funds of the district. This was not necessary as with contributions and concert proceeds the sum of $196.70 was raised. This met all expenses.

The financial report of the orchestra for the trip to Albany as prepared by Bernard Wilson is as follows:

Receipts—Amici Musicae balance, $10; repeating concert and patrons' tickets, $88.35; Grange, $5; Charles Crane, $5; Civic Society, $25; Ad Club, $5; School Faculty, $5; Andrew Knebel, $5; Angelo Sisto, $10; American Legion, $10; Home Bureau, $2; Board of Education, Memorial Day Fund, $38.70 and hotel rooms paid to Amici Musicae and car storage, $7.75. Total, $206.90.

The expenses were: Registration and fees to concert, $29; bus, $75; 5 cars $25; hotel rooms for students, drivers and chaperons, $52, for guests, $7.75; banner, $1.02; advertising and tickets to concerts, $8.15, and refund to the Board of Education, $8.99. Total, $206.90.

Hi-Lights and Shadows of the Week's News

The tide of war the past week has been one successive German victory after another. Widening the salient first cut through the French lines at Sedan the Nazi mechanized troops pushed first south towards Paris and then turned with a lightning thrust westward. The rail terminal of Arras fell to the onslaught and the Germans rushed forward to take Aimeins and Abbeyville just twelve miles from the open English Channel.

The quick German drive to the coast of France has cut the allied forces in two. An army of nearly a million British, French and Belgians are defending the northwest corner of France while the main French forces are distributed along the front defending Paris. The 9th French army which stood in the way of advance in the Sedan-Namur sector is said to have been cut to pieces.

The only salvation for the French lies in a strong enough counter-offense to cut the wedge the Nazis have pushed across their country. Troops and mechanized forces are said to be held in wait for this stroke, but were delayed, to strike when the German drive slowed down. This has never happened and Tuesday the invaders unleashed a terrific air bombardment back of the French lines apparently designed to break up any organized French counter-offensive.

General Giraud of the French army was reported captured by the Germans as he reached his headquarters just as he was assuming command of the 9th army.

In the dark days of this week, French hope hangs breathlessly upon the figure of General Weygand, Belgian native raised to be supreme commander of the allied forces. Weygand was named to succeed Gen. Gamelin when the Nazi forces broke through the allied lines in northern France. He was commanding the allied army in the Near East when brought to his new post.

The British air forces have reported each night the past week extensive raids upon German communication lines and military objectives in Germany. They claim to have hit fuel dumps in Hamburg and Bremen and to have successfully bombed munition plants in the Rhine valley.

British forces cut off from the south are said to be determined to fight relentlessly to hold the English Channel. If the invaders establish bases on the coast they will be only 30 miles by air from the British Isles and are expected to unleash the full fury of their air force against the great cities of England. Unless the German drive is stopped the world should be prepared for the most atrocious bombings ever witnessed as the Nazis strike against Hitler's most hated foes. It is expected the British will not stay their own planes from attacks on Berlin if the Nazis bombard London.

Credit Association Met Monday Night Here

The monthly meeting of the Addison Credit Association was held Monday night for the purpose of completing changes in the rating books. Some changes were made in ratings of several credit risks in the books and credit was approved for several doing business in member stores.

The members of the association are local business men banded together to exchange credit information relative to people shopping in Addison with the idea in mind that poor credit risks, considered so on the basis of the experiences of the members, are to be denied credit, and those considered good credit risks are to be given credit. The association has saved members many unpleasant experiences and also a great deal of money from poor risks.

Mussolini still remains the Sphinx of Italy as military observers watch every day for signs the southern dictator will join Hitler in the war. He has been deterred by the knowledge the royal family of Italy is unalterably opposed to war and the further knowledge the sympathies of the Vatican are definitely with the allied cause. He may also be thinking his people are weary of wars of conquest, aware the mass of the Italian people are not enthusiastic about joining Hitler's ruthless march.

Fear of an invasion of Bulgaria and Rumania last week has lessened slightly as the Nazis successfully prosecute the war in France.

Fresh Air Children of New York To Be Entertained in July

Committee seeks homes in Addison and vicinity for boys and girls from "sidewalks of New York"—Will be here July 6 to 20—No expense attached.

Addison will again act as "friendly town" for a group of fresh air children from New York City and the five boroughs of that metropolis. Preliminary arrangements were made at an informal meeting held Monday afternoon. Harry Mullen will head the Addison committee again this year and will be assisted by Mrs. Elroy Hannans, who successfully served as chairman for several years. The Herald-Tribune representative, Miss Jane Stoneall met with Mr. Mullen and outlined some of the literature which will be used during the coming summer for those families who open their homes to the young boys and girls of New York.

Mr. Mullen will announce the members of his committee and meet with the committee in a short time to make local plans. The cooperation of the clergy will be asked in this project as in the past.

Last year the Herald-Tribune through contributions sent out 130,000 children to communities in states from Maine to Virginia. These children all come from underprivileged homes and are only chosen on the recommendations of Jewish, Protestant or Catholic social agencies in the metropolis.

There is no expense attached to taking a child for the two-week period except for food. Transportation is provided. Anyone wishing to have a child may indicate religious preference, nationality background and ages from 6 to 16 and whether boy or girl or both if so desired.

The children will arrive in Addison July 6 and remain until July 20.

Steuben Poolers Hold Milk Income To Close Level

Total of 6,905,252 pounds of milk, equivalent to 82,297 forty-quart cans of 85 pounds each was cleared thru the market-wide pool in April by Steuben County producers, reports E. H. Harmon, administrator of the Federal-State orders regulating the handling of milk in the Metropolitan area. "This milk," Mr. Harmon added, "was handled through six plants in the county approved for the Metropolitan Marketing area and at the uniform price of $1.81 per hundredweight will return to the dairymen in the county $126,614.06." The March volume from Steuben County was 6,586,299 pounds valued at $126,456.94.

While the April uniform price is $1.81 at the base 201-210 mile zone and 3.5 butterfat content milk, the final producer return will be affected by freight differentials ranging from a minus 3 1/2 to a minus 5 1/2 cents per hundredweight; and plus or minus adjustments for butterfat of four cents per hundredweight for every point above or below the basic 3.5 test. Then too, Class I and II-A milk sold outside the marketing area was not priced by the orders, and the producer return for such milk hinges on the arrangements between him and the handler. Also the price to producer members of cooperative associations is controlled by the agreement between the association and its members.

Among the changes made by the revised order effective May 1, new provisions establish a 'special cream' area; and create Class II-C covering all cream for fluid use in New York state, outside the marketing area, and 12 counties in northern New Jersey. Formerly cream supplied to upstate markets and northern New Jersey by plants approved for New York City was unpriced. The II-C class price is established at 35 cents per hundredweight above butter—Class IV-A.

All records on projects must be satisfactory and the projects must show the use of certified seed and purebred stock.

In scholarship the contestant must have maintained an average of at least 75 per cent in all subjects. The student must show outstanding leadership. The Court was made up of T. H. McChesney of Avoca, William Smith of South Corning, Lee Jack of Campbell, Philip Scudder of Painted Post, and Joseph Kane of Addison. NO WASTED DEFENSE FUNDS

The President in calling for American capacity to build fifty thousand fighting planes a year may have been talking towards Mussolini with a semblance of braggadocio. But on the other hand it may be a good idea to set the dictators to thinking about the relative superiority of this country in the matter of mass production. Anything the American people really want which men and machines
can make can be turned out in this country
at a rate almost inconceivable to the average European. That is because we are so richly blessed with all the basic raw materials such as iron, coal, aluminum, cotton, plus productive manpower. Further, while Germany must always face uncertain supplies of oil for mechanized warfare,
the United States possesses so much petroleum the oil men are hard put to store the supply of gasoline at the present time.

Of course our plane capacity at present is far below the figure of fifty thousand a year—probably less than a quarter that number. But the genius which has made it possible for us to make millions of cars every year, even in depression times, cannot be staggered at multiplying by four what we are doing in aircraft manufacture. The one thing which has been holding up plane production is the shortage of trained workers and New Deal laws which cripple the manufacturers
by imposing stiff penalties for working overtime.
Increased demand will open the door for training the additional workers and public sentiment will soon erase the other New Deal barriers if this country decides to arm for defense.

Actually the country is pretty thoroughly decided now on the need for adequate defense, the question being what is adequate defense for us in our position? On the sea we need a navy in the Pacific which would match Japan and enough warships in the Atlantic to match Germany and Russia or Italy. Any idea of Germany threatening us with the British fleet is preposterous, for the Nazi air forces might sink the British navy, but capture it, never.

On land we need large fleets of tanks and motorized transport equipment for rapidly shifting troops. We doubtless need to train more reservists for officer material and need to have our standing army furnished with enough equipment
so it could be expanded quickly in case of need.
In the air we need to keep our active fighting craft numerically as strong as any two of the totalitarian countries. We should also buy the Bernuda Islands and some other strategic islands off both our coasts and prepare air bases on them
as well as on Guam and the Aleutian Isles off Alaska.

All of this need not be done at once but it is well that the world should know that we intend to go the limit of need in defending ourselves from any aggressor nation. And in the plans for defense we should not hesitate to send our navy
to the Philippines in case Japan makes any gestures towards the Dutch East Indies. For we should be ready to protect our vital supplies coming from that quarter, no matter what Japan thinks or says about that question.

We are naturally a peace-loving nation and our plans for defense should be nothing more or less than an adequate barrier to keep aggressors
like Germany and Japan from starting any funny business with us.

Our weakness in 1917 when war was declared against Germany grew out of the fact President Wilson would not at any time listen to advice to strengthen the defenses of the country. He had been re-elected the previous fall on a platform of "He kept us out of war", and for some strange reason could not understand the Kaiser considered those Wilsonian notes held no real threat. Once in the war America had to build and equip an army in a few short months which could cope with the armed legions fighting in France, and the fact we did it is one of the modern miracles of military history. Yet the very fact we were compelled to expand so rapidly the military and naval forces forced the costs far above what they would have been if the job had been begun when Germany first started sinking our ships.

One thing should not be lost sight of as the country starts a bigger preparedness program,
and that is the economical administration of all the funds voted for national defense. Most of us are rather amazed to be told by the army men that our small army is not adequately armed and equipped. We know millions have been spent every year on the military establishment and if this money has been wasted, at whose feet should the blame be placed? If it has not been wasted why are we in such desperate straits?

Certainly every American desires to see the country prepared to defend our borders against any invader. Yet at the same time as we break down party lines in the interest of a united program of national defense the country should insist that all funds voted for this purpose by Congress should be administered so we shall get our money's worth. The country has seen altogether too much waste in administration of the billions spent loosely over the last decade, and waste must stop in this case. If we spend other billions on defense we want that money to do a hundred cents on a dollar work defending us, and not to be frittered away by spend-thrift agencies.

OUR OPPORTUNITY

Local people who have been alert to what is going on in Addison have been surprised at the number of pieces of real estate which have changed hands here in the last few weeks. But the most remarkable thing about these transactions is the fact nearly all purchasers have been people from out-of-town who are buying to make their future homes in Addison.

This is quite an encouraging sign that Addison may become more and more a village of homes where people may wish to enjoy both the natural and man-made advantages our community can offer. Most of the new purchasers of Addison real estate are persons who have jobs in Corning or Painted Post and will commute to their work from here. At all times during the past twenty-five years there have been Addison residents who have sought work in Corning, but it is only recently that many have come here seeking homes from which they could commute to their work. Local residents of long standing would have reason to hope this recent influx of newcomers may be the forerunner of a considerable increase in the population of this village.

The only reason for doubting that we can continue to attract prospective home owners here is the limited number of houses in Addison which are for sale. From the standpoint of a real estate boom the prices paid for homes recently purchased are ruinously low. Purchasers have obtained real bargains when one considers what it would actually cost to build houses similar to those which have been sold. Hence the question arises, is there any chance of attracting new families after the houses now for sale in Addison have been snapped up at bargain prices?

The answer to this question all depends upon whatever initiative local people are able to show
in the way of building a few small, low-priced houses as a speculation. Of course it is impossible to build houses of the size recently changing hands to sell for anything like sixteen to eight-teen hundred dollars. But it might be possible to put up two or three small houses of the same plan for a price around $2,500 if the materials were power cut and construction hurried. Inexpensive plumbing and heating would be necessary and not much of the purchase price could be invested in the lot.

Capital would be needed to finance the houses
during construction, and also financing would be required for carrying the property, for sales would almost certainly be on a monthly basis payment. The financing should not be too hard to arrange as capital has been going begging for years for want of opportunities for safe investments which would earn a decent rate of interest.
Hence our opportunity for growth as a residential community may be said to depend upon the initiative of Addison citizens to start building some small, low-cost houses. Formation of a local building and loan association would be the first step in such an undertaking. Will Addison citizens see the wisdom of starting such an undertaking?

MORE MILLIONS FOR SUBSIDY

The proposed St. Lawrence Waterway is one of the principal issues now being considered by Congress. And, should the bill pass in its proposed form, the taxpayers of this country will be called upon to bear a new burden of staggering proportions.

The estimated cost of the project is $258,000,000. But, if past precedent is any arbiter, it is well to take that estimate with many grains of salt.
For the almost universal experience, both here
and abroad, has been that waterway improvements cost two to three times as much as the optimistic estimates of their proponents. The estimated cost of the Suez Canal, for example, was $30,000,000—it actually cost $30,000,000.
Estimated cost of the Panama Canal was $160,000,000—actual cost was $375,000,000. Estimated cost of the Chicago Drainage Canal was $16,000,000—actual cost was $53,000,000. Estimated cost of the New York Barge Canal was $62,000,000—actual cost was $188,000,000. And various authorities are of the opinion that the St. Lawrence Waterway would actually cost around a billion.

Canada, of course, is to pay part of the cost.
But her payments are to be deferred until 1949, and we are to advance all the money. And, in these days, no one knows what will happen in the next nine years.

Lastly, if there is any real need for the waterway, it hasn't been made clear. The general experience with all waterways is that they benefit a few favored companies, mostly large—at the expense of all the rest of the country which must pay tremendous sums for upkeep as well as for construction. According to Senator Wheeler, Chairman of the Senate Interstate Commerce
Committee, when concerns ship products by water
"they receive the benefit, but the consuming public does not get one 5-cent piece benefit out of it."

BADLY WARPED

SPORTS GOSSIP

The four "M's" proved much for the Dodgers Saturday when the St. Louis Cardinals trounced the Brooklyn squad under an avalanche of five home runs in seven hits. Those who took part in the slaughter of the National League second place team were McGee, Mize, Moore and Medwick. The first pitched the Cards to victory while the other three made the five circuit blows.

Bimelech proved that he is a fussy horse again Saturday when he came in second to a 42 to 1 shot, Corydon. It proved that Bimelech, rated the outstanding three year old of the season, will not run on any kind of track, but wants it just so.

Cornell's Big Red crew is something to be reckoned with this season after Saturday's victory over Yale. Harvard is the team to beat this week.

And incidentally, the Cornell baseball squad, depleted by spring football practice has gone to town in the Ivy League. They are nine of the top ten teams in the league. Poor Old Penn is at the bottom of the heap with eight losses in 10 starts.

Chester Ross, the Buffalo boy starring in the outfield of the Boston Bees, could make the all-time Book of records by turning out 3 batters all season at his spring rate. Chet hit 5 triples in his first 14 games. At that clip he'd have 55 at the end of a 104-game season. The major league all-time record is 36, set by Chief Owen Wilson, of the 1912 Pittsburgh Pirates.

Bucky Walters, National League pacesetter, never has to worry for fear they'll start bunting on him to spoil his delivery. Bucky prepared for his pitching career by working 6 years as a third-baseman. Fielding bunts was his specialty long before he struck out his first big league batter.

The only member of the 1915 Philadelphia Phillies, champions of the National League, who is revisiting the scenes of their 25-years-ago triumphs this summer is Stan Baumgartner. In '15 Stan was a rookie southpaw fresh off the Chicago University campus. In '40 he is traveling with the Phillies as baseball writer for The Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Ciné Reds gained heavily in the I. Q. department by trading Lee Grissom to the Yanks for Joe Begg. They call Begg "Silent Joe", but it's judgment in Joe's case, not because he doesn't know many words. He's a Bachelor of Arts from Geneva College and can converse in 5 languages besides English.

The Giants' keystone combination of Billy Jurgens and Mickey Wittek is fast developing into one of those sleight-of-hand double play duets. No wonder. They room together on the road, discuss strategy and opposing hitters, and now and then "Pass the talcum powder" develops a fast double play toss across some hotel room.

The Yankees have started their uphill climb in the American League and are out of the uncoveted cellar position.

Hartley "Hunk" Anderson, former Notre Dame football star, coach and professional league player, has been signed to coach the Chicago Bears in the National football league. He played with them five years after completing his college course. He has also coached at Notre Dame, St. Louis, North Carolina, Cincinnati and Michigan Universities.

TO THE RAMBLER:

Thanks loads for the article of yours on Religion in the last issue of the Advertiser, Mr. Rambler. I should be most enlightening to the men and women of the town and help to stir their memories when it comes time for church on Sunday mornings.

One correction should be made in your figures of those worshipping in the churches of this town. I believe that only one Sunday a year would there be 800 persons worshipping in all the churches of Addison, that Sunday being Easter. According to figures on attendance which I have kept in the last two years or so, the average congregation for the whole town would be well under 375.

I agree with you heartily that this is a sad situation in a town of 1300 persons when you consider that in one church in this town, the attendance is better than one-third rural, if this be true in all the churches, then where are the Addison people on Sunday mornings?

I believe a word of commendation should be said for the youth of this town at this point. My average congregation is nearly always better than 50 per cent boys and girls under the age of 21. This speaks well for the youth of the town, but speaks just as condemnably of the parents and adults of this town.

The church must serve the community, I agree, but the church must have people in order to serve. The building itself cannot get out and serve, it's the people in the Church that must serve, but what has happened in the past ten years? Men and women have diverted their interests to other things and if they have any time left over they will work in the church or better still they will just come to church, and refuse to engage actively in its work. I repeat, the people are those who must serve, the church cannot serve without them. The Church has much to offer, if only men and women will realize it.

Signed—(Interested Clergyman)

The speed of a horse, which a lady near town was riding was considerably faster than normal and smoke issued from the horse's back as he tried to evade the fire. However, it was soon discovered by passers-by that the blanket on which the saddle was resting was burning. Much of the blanket was burned before the attention of the rider could be called to her dilemma.

I felt pretty smart Sunday, for I knew in the heat of the afternoon that the storm which struck the area was on the way. I did not discover the fact myself. Out riding with some friends we stopped at the Elmira airport where the Federal Government maintains a weather station and airplane station. The meteorologist there told us the storm

A dog's teeth should be cleaned at least once a month with a soft tooth brush or cloth and baking powder says one of the experts.

Charlie Gehring has been made an honorary member of a swimming club. He enjoys this sport when not playing big league baseball.

I was much interested in the fact that $55,000 was paid for a center halfback on a Mexican soccer team. The star and team are now playing in New York.

THE PRINTED WORD

No. 2

Have you ever watched a child growing up? Notice how the toy soldier gives way to a baseball bat, the doll to a volley ball, and both, finally, to the pleasures of adult life?

The human spirit grew up in much the same manner. Weary of grunting and gesturing, and needing new media of communication to express his ever-widening knowledge of the world about him, prehistoric man turned to drawing pictures on the walls of his cave. This was an important development in our story, for it marked the first effort to translate thought and feeling into visible and permanent form.

These drawings, shaped in stone with rudely-fashioned cutting implements, were of reindeer, bison, wild horse, even of other men, and were probably records of memorable experiences in the lives of those content to rest upon his newly won laurels; his groping mind moved yet another step along the path to printing. Not only did he make graphic representations of animals and human beings, but he also used shortened equivalents of them—linear outlines which, should you be curious enough to see, are intelligible even today as meaning "bear" or "hair". What man had done here, quite unconsciously, was to make a beginning of WRITING.

These "pictographs", as they are called, conveyed suggestions rather than precise indications of what they represented; they were aids to memory. A cave-dweller saw a goat, then made a pictograph abbreviation of it. It meant to him, "goat" and was a valuable labor-saving device, obviating the necessity for cutting into stone an exact drawing of the goat.

Thus, primitive pictographs may be regarded as the "cocoon" stage between the cave drawings and what we call WRITING, into which the pictograph soon was to develop. (Next week, in the third article of this series, we will tell how pictographs evolved into ideographs, representing IDEAS.)

Montrose—Staley Hallack, 13, released two weeks ago from jail on a reckless driving charge, is in jail again on a charge of stealing the special built sedan of Dave Rubino, famous violinist and radio artist. In addition to stealing the car, Hallack charged gas to Rubino.

If you get sent to jail for 15, 30 or 60 days or some intermediate sentence you can have the privilege of serving it week-ends according to a bill recently signed by Governor Lehman. These are called "week-end" jail terms. The object is to permit a man to continue on his job and serve his time on vacations and week-ends.

Two thousand or more years ago a Roman armorer fashioned a Roman spearhead. Recently that spearhead was offered by a poor fisherman in County Claire, Eire in lieu of a fine he was unable to pay. The spearhead was accepted for the fine and placed in the National Museum. Thus do the old and the new meet.

The grass seemed greener, the yards seem bigger and brighter and the world seemed clearer after the clean-up days of last week. Here's hoping the yards will remain clean during the summer and that Addison will be known as a clean looking village.

Now that the west end dump on the Rathbone road is taken care of, people with pride in Addison are calling to mind other dumping spots which do not add to the beauty of the village. One such place came to my attention this week. That is the one just north of the suspension bridge along the banks of the Canisteo River. People of the vicinity used to throw the refuse over the bank, but now do not bother, preferring to litter the place. This may be a case for the village fathers or the health officials.

The House Judiciary Committee has reversed the action taken a few days ago by reporting favorably the Hatch "clean politics" bill. When the committee first considered this measure, it voted by a secret ballot to pigeonhole it. Charges by the press of unadulterated, self-seeking politics, election-year jitters and an unwillingness to cripple state political machines caused many a member of the committee to blush a little. A petition to discharge the committee from further consideration of the measure was filed, and garnered 103 signatures of members of the House the first day. It now appears that the House will give an opportunity to vote on the bill prior to adjournment. The measure has already passed the Senate.

In speaking of the second Hatch bill for clean politics in state governments, Chairman Sumners of the Judiciary Committee commented that the enforcement of such a law would require a host of federal agents all over the country prying into the political activities of every public official regardless of the importance of his office and that if the federal officials came into his home state of Texas he would defend without fee anyone charged with shooting the snooter. The next day he asked permission to withdraw that statement because it was unparliamentary and added "perhaps I should charge a nominal fee."

American industry is said to contain 2,400,000 business units, 90% of which have assets of less than $250,000. It is also said that almost half of our gainfully employed have jobs in small business establishments. Inability of small business to obtain adequate funds for operation, development and expansion is given as one of the principal reasons for our present unemployment situation. Current laws and regulations governing the average commercial bank precludes in many cases the making of long term loans for business purposes. In many cases the size of the loan desired does not justify the expense involved in attempting to sell an issue of stock or bonds under Security and Exchange regulation. In an effort to permit small business ventures to develop, a system of capital credit banks is proposed which would provide a long-term capital, particularly equity capital. It is also suggested that small business be provided with a systematic informational and research service comparable to that furnished to the farmer by the Department of Agriculture or which big business enjoys through its own research facilities and the Department of Commerce.

On the way to enactment is the agricultural appropriation bill for 1941. An item of $212,000,000 for farm parity payments, not included in budget estimates, has been approved by the House and Senate. Estimated payments to corn farmers will be $61,000,000; cotton growers, $75,600,000; wheat farmers, $54,000,000; tobacco, $84,000,000; and rice $2,000,000. The House also approved an item of $35,000,000 for the food stamp plan and other means of disposing of surplus commodities. The total appropriation carried in the bill will be close to one billion dollars. Little if any of the appropriation for farm parity will be available to the dairy farmers of New York.

The annual appropriation bill, making available 975 million dollars for relief is now before the House. In the past these bills have been handled by Representative Woodrum of Virginia, a dynamic leader of the Administration forces, but this year he is in disagreement with continuance of the program as it has been conducted in the past. "I am firmly convinced of one thing; I am firmly of the opinion that we are on the wrong road now. I do not believe that year after year, whether we appropriate one billion or a billion and a half, that it even scratches the surface of the unemployment problem or that we are rendering anything whatever toward a solution of the problem in its fundamental and its basic aspects. I think we are at the crossroads now, and unless the Congress not only the Congress, but unless associated business, commerce and industry are willing to put their brain and purpose together to try to solve this problem, then, indeed, we have an internal problem that, in my judgment, threatens the Nation more than any foreign foe upon our border."

'Buck Benny Rides Again' Starts at Fox Theatre Sat.

It's a hard riding, straight-shooting, two-fisted Jack Benny, a mighty tough hombre, who appears in "Buck Benny Rides Again", the newest screen vehicle of the famous film and radio comedian, which Paramount will present here on Saturday at the Fox Theatre. Wild Bill Hickok and Billy the Kid were tenderfeet by comparison with the rip-snorting buckaroo, the terror of the plains, the mad man of the west, Buck Benny of Bar None.

It's a new dynamic Benny, with a scowl on his face and a glint in his eye—a hero to everyone except his valet, who happens to be Rochester. Rustlers quail at his approach—they were paid to quail and they earned their money. Redmen cower and raise their hands furtively to their own scalps—the tribes were scoured for graves who really knew how to cower in a pinch. Buck Benny rules the range — through extensive bribery.

For "Buck Benny Rides Again" tells the story of a harmless, inoffensive radio performer, Jack Benny played by himself, who discovers that his girl friend adores the West, and the only way to win her is to make like Hopalong Cassidy.

With the aid of Andy Devine, who actually owns a dude ranch in the West, Benny is enabled to pose as a rancher of the old school. He pays Andy's cowhands to pose as bandits, so that he can put them to rout. He bribes them to let him bully them in badman style. Everything works out until Benny, who hates horses, is forced to mount one of the diabolical animals for the roundup. His performance on horseback gives the show away, but he redeems himself—if accidentally, when genuine bandits appear on the scene.

Benny's supporting cast includes virtually all the members of his radio program, with the exception of Mary Livingston, who joins his old rival, Andy Devine, in some off-screen feuding. Ellen Drew, Paramount's new star, plays the feminine lead, with Virginia Dale and Lillian Cornell in other principal feminine roles. Eddie "Rochester" Cagney.

Farm Bureau Offers Sheep Dipping Service

Steuben County shepherds will be offered the sheep dipping service the first two weeks in June by the local Farm Bureau as an aid to eradicating ticks and lice, and thus to increase flock returns.

Shepherds have long appreciated the damage done by these parasites, but have not dipped because of the lack of equipment, and because of the labor involved. The Farm Bureau dipping service provides these two essentials.

Manned by two experienced operators, a portable vat will go to each of the farms that register for the service. The request should be filed with the Farm Bureau office and should state the number of sheep to be handled as well as the name and address and location of the farm.

Red Cross Drive For Relief Funds In Addison

The American Red Cross is seeking to raise $10,000,000 for the relief of war-stricken countries of Europe, especially the former neutral democracies of Norway, Denmark, Holland and Belgium as well as Poland and Czechoslovakia. These countries, a year ago, all alive and vital countries with a national life have been overrun by German troops who left in their wake many destroyed villages, destroyed homes, broken families and wounded. It is to help these refugees that this large fund is being raised at this time.

Elmer C. Bovee, chairman for Addison, has announced that the Corning area of Corning, Painted Post, Addison and adjacent villages are to be asked to contribute $4,000 towards this national sum. There will be no concerted drive here, according to the demands being made upon local people by several agencies through the year. However, those wishing to contribute may make checks payable to the Red Cross, to Robert Argar in the Addison National Bank or to Mr. Bovee. And those who wish to make cash contributions may call Mr. Bovee and he will call for the contribution.

COMMUNICATION

Editor of The Advertiser:

Because of a confusion of facts the item in the issue of May 9 concerning me was somewhat erroneous and should be corrected in the interest of accuracy.

The first postage stamps were placed on sale in London on May 6, 1840, hence the sixth of May this year was the centennial anniversary and so observed by philatelists throughout the world. I understand that an international celebration was to be held at London but that the plan was cancelled because of the European war; however, an interesting display has been installed in the British Pavilion at the World's Fair of 1940, and the Collectors' Club has had one also at the club-house on East 35th Street. I saw both of these two weeks ago in addition to the National and International exhibitions at New York in 1934 and 1936.

The Pioneer Philatelic Phalanx, composed of persons who began collecting stamps prior to 1890, was organized by Col. John A. Hooper of Los Angeles not so long ago and I am one of its charter members. A rally of these "old-timers" was announced incorrectly for Saturday, May 11 at Gimbel's department store and I went to New York for the meeting that did not take place. I witnessed the official opening of the fair by Mayor LaGuardia and covered some important features that I missed last year but was unable to achieve my chief purpose in making the trip at this time.

Railroad Whistle Signals Heard Here Have Meaning to Initiated

The Rambler

Have you ever wondered what the train whistle signals mean as speeding trains, slow freights or shifting engines made their way through Addison's railroad system?

As the huge engines, freight and passenger, roar their way through the day and night on the Erie here or the little Baltimore and Ohio train makes its way slowly down from the hills and back up again, I have listened to the whistles many, many times. Sometimes I tried to imagine what the engineer was saying as he pulled the cord which blew the tremendous blasts which echoed through the Canisteo Valley. It seemed many times as though I knew what he was trying to make that mechanical voice say but I was never sure.

So, I thought the best way to get the information is go to railroad men and find out. And, in my ignorance, I expected to be told four or five whistle signals and their meaning. Imagine my surprise when I was handed a book in which there are over 40 separate whistle signals which an engineer and members of his crew and the various signalmen and yard crews must know. It made me dizzy just to read them, let alone having to memorize them.

In trying to pick out the signals most frequently heard from the throats of whistles here I find two short meaning resumption of normal movement of an engine or train after receiving a signal from the signalman, three short means the train or engine is to back up after receiving permission from signalman and four short is a call signal for maintenance and six short calls attention to the signal displayed on the engine. One short blast means the brakes are to be applied and one long and three short is for the flagman to protect the rear of the train from any oncoming train. After the flagman is out four long blasts indicates the flagman may return from west or south of train and five blasts calls him to return to train from east or north side of train. Four short blasts means that the engineer wants some signals from his train crew or signalman.

A seldom heard signal here is two short, a long and short again which tells that the engineer wants a relief engine at the next terminal and the dispatcher is to send the message to the next ahead.

The fast trains going through Addison use two long and two short frequently for this is the signal to be used at grade crossings. It is to be prolonged and repeated as the train approaches the grade. And right here it must be noted that in addition to knowing his engine and its signals, the engineer must know all the crossings, highways, train crossovers and other physical characteristics and mechanical signals of the route he is traveling. No wonder, engineers and firemen are older men. Look at the time it must take to learn all that information.

An extra long blast on the whistle indicates that the train is approaching a station, junction, railroad crossing or junction at grade. A long and short means approaching obscure curve or station. When a person is excited the voice usually is rapid. The same thing is true if persons or livestock are on the tracks. The engineer blows a succession of short blasts to warn the people or cattle and the whistle sounds like an excited person.

Some of the common signals which may be a repetition of previous signals, but under different working conditions include some of the following. Two short signals when the train is standing means start and two short when the train is running is to stop at once. The first signal is often heard here.

BORDEN

Missionary Tea

A missionary tea will be served at the home of Mrs. Frank Gould Friday, May 24 at 2:30 P. M. The Junior Missionary Society will present a play. The program committee is Mrs. Mary Hurd and Mrs. Sarah Hilborn and the refreshment committee, Mrs. Doris Krise and Mrs. Rosamond Vidison.

Ice Cream Social

An ice cream social will be held at the home of Miss Mildred Root Thursday evening, May 23. The event is sponsored by the Young People's Class of the Baptist Sunday School.

Mrs. Myron Resue who has been a patient at Corning hospital has returned home much improved. The Rev. Baker and son Lavern drove to Sidney Sunday afternoon to visit the former's brother.

Mrs. Mildred Herrington teacher of Borden school took her eighth grade pupils on a sightseeing trip to Buffalo and Canada, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Gould and daughter Edith took dinner with Mrs. Gould's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Benjamin Sunday.

Mrs. Leslie Watson of Woodhull visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Carleton Monday.

Little Charles Root of Goodhue Hill spent several days last week with his grand mother, Mrs. Agnes Brennan.

Three shorts when the train is standing is for the train to back up and when the train is running and three shorts are blowing it means the train is to stop at the next passenger station. Four shorts when the train is standing the air brakes are to be applied if on and released if off. When running and four short blasts are heard it proclaims a reduction in speed.

Another frequently heard signal here is the five short blasts recalling the flagman when the train is standing still. If a train is in motion and this signal is heard it is a sign of an increase in speed. During the past winter, with sub-freezing temperature six short blasts when running meant turn on the heat or increase it. And when you hear seven blasts it indicates that the train is approaching a terminal and the steam heat is to be turned off.

There are many other technical signals to denote crossing from one track to another, approaching a meeting place of trains, a series of whistle signals where there are several parallel track lines, when brakes are sticking or hand signals are wanted, whistle signals to inspect train lines for leaks, for parting trains and for stopping all trains between certain points. However, I have tried to give the ones we hear most frequently in Addison. And I understand that these signals are standard practices on most of the American railroads. These are the book signals.

But like everything else where systems are set up, the men using them have devised some changes of their own for short forms or personal messages and opinions and these are readily understood by other railroaders.

The tables were attractively decorated with green crepe paper and daffodils. Men from the Methodist and Baptist Churches served the supper. They were Walter Reynolds, Douglas Reynolds, the Rev. J. Held, the Rev. David Davis, Lorenzo Dyer, Darwin Williams, Henry Carpenter, Ralph Towles, Lee Miller and Maurice Williams.

Following the supper Mrs. Darwin Williams introduced the speaker, Mrs. Annis, who gave an interesting talk on her trip to England and Scotland last August. She told of many of the preparations for war and illustrated the use of the gas mask which all are required to carry. She related incidents resulting from the blackout while in London. In closing she read a poem of peace.

Episcopal Church Girls

NEW YORK — The Girls' Friendly Society, national organization in the Episcopal Church, is working on the problem of student refugees from Europe. They have raised, largely by the sale of refugee stamps, $1,093 for the aid of such refugees, and in addition are studying such questions as "Why are there refugees? What problems do they meet when they come to this country? How can we help them?"

Otis Baxter, Former Addison Boy, Dies in Salt Lake City

Otis Baxter, formerly of this place died in a hospital in Salt Lake City, Utah, May 13, 1940 after an illness of several months. He will be remembered by many persons here who knew him during his boyhood days.

Mr. Baxter was born in Addison in 1892 the son of Ernest and Fanny Chapman Baxter. The latter was a niece of Mrs. E. M. Welles and lived in the Welles home here for some time. Ernest Baxter was a native of Osceola. Otis Baxter went west with his parents while quite young where they owned a ranch at Twodot, Mont. He came back here to attend high school and it was during this period in his life when he made all of his local acquaintances.

He will be remembered in Addison as a carefree boy who delighted in contests of marksmanship with rifle and pistol. An account of Mr. Baxter's life is given in a recent edition of the Harlowton, Mont. Times which is quoted below.

"Otis Baxter, a native of New York State — came west with his parents when a small child, residing at Hunters Springs, Mont. and later living at Livingston Castle and Twodot.

His early education was received at Twodot, Addison, N. Y., and Helena. Later he graduated from the University of Montana. At Missoula he was a member of Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity. He was working with the Banking Corporation at Helena when this country entered the World War. He enlisted and served as a sergeant in the Quartermaster's Department for the duration of the war.

At the close of the war he accepted a position with the Bank of Wheatland County at Harlowton afterwards going to the First National Bank of Missoula and then to the United States National Bank at Deer Lodge. He later was connected with the U. S. Building and Loan association of Butte, where he resided until eighteen months ago. At the time of his death he was vice-president of the Prudential Federal Savings and Loan Association with headquarters at Salt Lake City.

He was united in marriage to Dorothy Coleman in Deer Lodge in 1927. He was outstanding in ability and character and his business life was one of constant advancement. He leaves a name that will fill with pride the breasts of those near and dear to him and many others who trusted in his integrity and diligent attention to duty. He was ever considerate and kind.

He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Baxter of Harlowton, two sisters, Mrs. James D. Law of Har-

D. A. R. Chapter Accepts Invitation — Install Officers

A letter of invitation from Kanisteo Valley Chapter of Hornell to attend the Steuben County luncheon was read at the meeting of Onondaga Chapter D. A. R. held at the home of Mrs. Edwin C. Manley a committee on reservations and transportation.

Mrs. Wilfred Miller, Mrs. Claude Martin and Miss Helen Smith comprise the Memorial Day committee to have charge of decorating the graves of deceased Daughters. Annual reports of officers and chairmen of committees were given. These reports show the Chapter to be in a flourishing condition.

Election of officers was followed by the installation. Mrs. F. D. Kelly of Avoca installed the officers as follows: Regent, Mrs. W. S. Long, re-elected; first vice regent, Mrs. A. B. Chatfield; second vice regent, Mrs. F. G. Clark; recording secretary, Mrs. V. A. Manley; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Wilfred Miller; treasurer, Mrs. Frances Hoyt, re-elected; registrar, Mrs. I. R. Gladstone; historian, Miss Jessica Turner; chaplain, Mrs. Claude Martin; first director, Mrs. M. G. Hubbs; second director, Mrs. Fred G. Farnham. The Regent will announce her standing committee personnel at the next meeting.

Miss Katharine Darrin as guest speaker read excerpts of letters from friends in France depicting conditions in that country. All men are now in the army and the business is carried on by the women of the country. Miss Darrin also contrasted conditions in France during the World War and those prevailing in the present conflict.

Mrs. Smith was assisted by Mrs. Ray S. Brown and Mrs. Carrie Saxton. Others present were two guests, Mrs. Stuart H. Bean and Miss Katharine Darrin and the following Daughters: Mrs. Charles L. Crane, Mrs. George Freeman, Mrs. I. R. Gladstone, Mrs. A. B. Chatfield, Mrs. F. G. Clark, Mrs. M. G. Hubbs, Mrs. E. D. Kelly, Mrs. W. S. Knights Play Monday and Friday at Home

The Knights have two home games listed before the close of the baseball season in Addison. The first game will be played Monday night against Bath. This game will be played at 5 o'clock, an hour later than usual. The visitors come here with two victories over some of the league's outstanding teams and hence assure a good game with the Knights. The lateness of the hour of the game should give many local fans an opportunity to see the game.

The second game on next week's schedule will bring Painted Post to Addison for a game Friday, May 31 at 4:15 o'clock on the high school diamond. The Posters have had a successful season in league and non-league baseball and hope to return to Painted Post with a victory.

The season for the Knights is practically over as far as league ball is concerned and it seems it hardly started. The season was late getting under way and was a short season. Then with rain, the home fans saw few games and the team hardly had time to get the feel of the ball.

"TOTAL REPAIRS FOR 26,000 MILES --$2.50"

"I have driven my present Pontiac 26,000 miles. I never have had to add oil between my 1,000-mile changes, my gasoline mileage is 16 to the gallon, and my total repair bills, $2.50 (two brake adjustments)."

"20 TO 21 MILES PER GALLON ON LONG TRIP"

"On a recent trip to Miami, we averaged 21 miles per gallon going and a little over 23 coming back. Our previous car was a large model—and we get better service from this Pontiac, besides lower price and upkeep."

"Am the owner of a 1937 Pontiac '3'. I have driven it over 35,000 miles and it performs as beautifully today as the day I got it. It has cost me for replacement parts just $1.60 for carburetor meter rod and jets."

"114,000 MILES AND 18 MILES PER GALLON"

"My 1927 Pontiac Cabriolet has now gone 114,000 miles. Recently, I drove it from Los Angeles to North Dakota, 2243 miles, on 127 gallons of gasoline and 4 quarts of oil. You can't beat a Pontiac!"
